PART II: REQUESTOR'S POSITION SUMMARY AND PRINCIPAL DOCUMENTATION

Requestor's Position Summary: "For the prescription claims at issue, Texas Mutual Insurance ("Texas Mutual") paid Working Rx less than the Maximum Allowable Reimbursement ("MAR") amount that Working Rx billed to Texas Mutual. Because Texas Mutual does not have a contract with either Working Rx or the pharmacy that dispensed the prescription at issue, Texas Mutual has no legitimate basis for making a reduced payment to Working Rx. ... Texas Mutual's theory is that the rate established by that contract is an appropriate estimate of the dispensing pharmacy's usual and customary charge. Texas Mutual's payment practices are inconsistent with the requirements of the Division's rules. ... when a pharmacy agrees to accept a reduced contract rate for a pharmacy claim, it does so in exchange for the receipt of valuable consideration, such as a the ability to submit the claim electronically and to receive guaranteed payment on the claim within a shortened time frame. The amount one pharmacy agrees to accept to receive such substantial benefits is not a proxy for the amount that the pharmacy or any other pharmacy would be willing to accept in the absence of such a contract, and Texas Mutual cannot seriously suggest otherwise. ... neither the Texas Labor Code nor the Texas Administrative Code authorizes Texas Mutual to make payments in accord with Texas Mutual's estimate of the usual and customary charge for a drug..."

PART III: RESPONDENT'S POSITION SUMMARY AND PRINCIPAL DOCUMENTATION

Respondent's Position Summary: "Texas Mutual intends for this response to be its initial response for all disputes listed in Attachment A. Working Rx has routinely and consistently charged Texas Mutual... more for prescription drugs than the actual pharmacy charges. This occurs because presumably Working Rx pays the pharmacy one rate then bills the carrier a higher rate... Apparently, Working Rx made no attempt to determine the amount the pharmacy usually and customarily receives for the prescription at issue before billing Texas Mutual using the AWP + method... Working Rx completely ignores subsection (a) (1) which provides that payment shall be the providers usual and customary charge... Texas Mutual did not pay the amount billed because the amount billed was not the MAR in this case... Working Rx apparently believes that it can charge a higher amount for the same prescription drugs dispensed within the workers' compensation system than is charged by the same pharmacy for the same prescription drugs dispensed outside the system... Medical Fee Dispute Resolution ("MFDR") has decided at least three cases in which it required a pharmacy to establish that its workers' compensation charges were the same or similar to those incurred by patients outside the workers' compensation system... In each case, the pharmacy failed to submit such proof and thus MFDR determined that no additional compensation was warranted... Any administrative costs related to Working Rx's actions as a pharmacy bill processing agent are not chargeable to Texas Mutual. Working Rx admits it is nothing more than a processing agent... Working Rx can only seek reimbursement for "health care" under Texas Labor Code, and a mark-up for administrative matters such as billing, claims research and investigation is not billing for "health care"... Working Rx and its pharmacies cannot argue that the higher price to workers' comp insurers is lawful or justified on the theory that services provided to workers' comp are never "similar" to services provided to other types of patients... The pharmacy's U&C is the amount it normally charges the walk-in customers that have no insurance or are covered by private health insurance... in the absence of any information from Working Rx, this is Texas Mutual's best evidence of the pharmacy's U&C amount of reimbursement is evidence of the pharmacy's reimbursement from payers outside the worker's compensation system... Using the best information available to it, Texas Mutual has established an educated estimate for the pharmacy's U&C charges to customers outside the workers' compensation system and paid Working Rx those amounts because such amounts were lower than the formula amount in Rule 134.503(a). Texas Mutual recognizes that the pharmacy's actual U&C charge may be different (higher or lower) than Texas Mutual's estimated value. However, Working Rx has never provided any information to substantiate that the amount it charged Texas Mutual was in fact the pharmacy's U&C price for the drug at issue despite Texas Mutual's best evidence that it was not..."

PART V: FINDINGS

Texas Labor Code §413.011(a)-(d), titled Reimbursement Policies and Guidelines and 28 Texas Administrative Code (TAC) §134.503, titled Pharmaceutical Benefits, adopted to be effective January 3, 2002; amended to be effective March 14, 2004, set out the reimbursement guidelines for pharmaceutical services.

United Pharmacy

Texas Labor Code provides definitions in reference to health care provider as follows:

- §401.011(22) defines "health care provider" as a health care facility or health care practitioner.
- §401.011(20) defines "health care facility" as a hospital, emergency clinic, outpatient clinic, or other facility providing health care.
- §401.011(21) defines "health care practitioner" as an individual who is licensed to provide or render and provides or renders health care; or a non-licensed individual who provides or renders health care under the direction or supervision of a doctor.
- §401.011(19) (E) defines "health care" to include a prescription drug, medicine, or other remedy.

United Pharmacy is the provider in this dispute.

Working Rx

Texas Labor Code §413.0111 provides that the rules adopted by the commissioner for the reimbursement of prescription medications and services must authorize pharmacies to use agents or assignees to process claims and act on behalf of the pharmacies under the terms and conditions agreed upon by the pharmacies.

- 28 TAC §133.2(7) defines a pharmacy processing agent (PPA) as a person or entity that contracts with a pharmacy in accordance with Labor Code §413.0111, establishing an agent or assignee relationship, to process claims and act on behalf of the pharmacy under the terms and conditions of a contract related to services being billed. Such contracts may permit the agent or assignee to submit billings, request reconsideration, receive reimbursement, and seek medical dispute resolution for the pharmacy services billed.
- Pursuant to 28 TAC §133.20 (d)(4), the health care provider that provided the health care shall submit its own bill, unless the health care provider is a pharmacy that has contracted with a PPA for purposes of medical bill processing, in which case the PPA may submit the bill.
- Pursuant to 28 TAC §133.20(e), a medical bill must be submitted for an amount that does not exceed the health care provider's usual and customary charge for the health care provided in accordance with Texas Labor Code §413.011 and §415.005; and in the name of the licensed health care provider that provided the health care or that provided direct supervision of an unlicensed individual who provided the health care.

Working Rx is a pharmacy processing agent and the requestor in this dispute.

Agreement Between Working Rx & United Pharmacy

28 TAC §133.307 (b) (1) states that a qualified pharmacy processing agent, as described in Labor Code §413.0111, may be a requestor in medical fee disputes. 28 TAC §133.307 (c) (2) (H) provides that if the requestor is a pharmacy processing agent, the requestor must include:

- A signed and dated copy of an agreement between the processing agent and the pharmacy clearly demonstrating the dates of service covered by the contract; and
- A clear assignment of the pharmacy's right to participate in the MDR process.

Working Rx provided portions of the agreement with United Pharmacy which was entered into on May 01, 2001. The agreement clearly assigns United's right to participate in the MDR process to Working Rx, however, the portions provided do not clearly demonstrate the dates of service in the dispute are covered by the agreement. Working Rx did not meet the requirement as set forth by 28 TAC §133.307 (c) (2) (H).

Reimbursement

Texas Labor Code §408.028 (f) states in part "...the commissioner by rule shall adopt a fee schedule for pharmacy and pharmaceutical services that will:

- (1) provide reimbursement rates that are fair and reasonable;
- (2) assure adequate access to medications and services for injured workers; and
- (3) minimize costs to employees and insurance carriers."

Per 28 TAC §134.503(a) (1)-(3) The maximum allowable reimbursement (MAR) for prescription drugs shall be the lesser of:

- (1) The provider's usual and customary charge for the same or similar service;
- (2) The fees established by a formula based on the average wholesale price (AWP) determined by utilizing a nationally recognized pharmaceutical reimbursement system (e.g. Redbook, First Data Bank Services) in effect on the day the prescription drug is dispensed; and
- (3) A negotiated contract amount.

28 TAC §134.503 (a) (1) refers to the provider's usual and customary which in this case is United Pharmacy. Working Rx must substantiate that the amount billed is United Pharmacy's usual and customary charge. On 06/03/2009, the Division requested any and all available information of the principals' or assignors' usual and customary charges for the individual pharmaceuticals for which additional reimbursement is sought. Although Working Rx argues that the charges billed to Texas Mutual have uniformly been the providers' usual and customary charge for the same or similar service, Working Rx did not provide documentation sufficient to substantiate that the amount billed to Texas Mutual is United Pharmacy's usual and customary charge for LEVAQUIN TAB 500MG.

28 TAC §134.503 (a) (2) is established through a calculation based on AWP. The fee as established by the formula under §134.503(a) (2) for LEVAQUIN TAB 500MG is $73.55. 28 TAC §134.503 (a) (3) is not used to establish the maximum allowable reimbursement because Working Rx provided confirmation that no contract exists between United Pharmacy and Texas Mutual Insurance Company.

Therefore, the Maximum Allowable Reimbursement (MAR) for LEVAQUIN TAB 500MG is the lesser of 28 TAC §134.503 (a) (1) and (2). In this case, the lesser can not be determined because Working Rx did not submit sufficient evidence of United Pharmacy's' usual and customary charge for LEVAQUIN TAB 500MG.

Conclusion:

Working Rx did not clearly demonstrate that the dates of service in dispute were covered by the contract with United Pharmacy as required by 28 TAC §133.307 (c) (2) (H). In addition, the requestor Working Rx failed to sufficiently substantiate that the amount on the pharmacy bill is United Pharmacy's' usual and customary charge for LEVAQUIN TAB 500MG. The Division concludes that Working Rx has failed to establish that it is due additional reimbursement in the amount of $12.62. As a result, the amount ordered is $0.00.
